EASTERN FIRM OBTAINS BERG BRETZEL PLANT

Veteran Manufacturer Disposes of Property, Business

RALPH KENNEDY TO STAY AS MANAGER

Berg, Now County Commissioner, Plans To Take Rest

Conrad Berg of Leetonia, better known, perhaps, as "Coonie," who has worked hard for something like 35 years in building a business in pretzels that today covers the entire tri-state area pretty thoroughly, is going to take a rest.

To that end he has sold his business, he announced today, to eastern interests, although the names of the buyers were not definitely announced.

He's Commissioner, Too
And now he's going to take things easy for a while, look up all his friends, do a little hunting, mingle in politics and attend to his duties as a member of the entirely Democratic board of county commissioners.

Mr. Berg took over the Leetonia plant in 1899, with five girls and a boy as his force, doing more or less of a local business. He spared neither time nor efforts and his products met with favor. His plant now employs approximately 40 workers.

Ralph Kennedy of Leetonia, who has been with Berg for a number of years, is a member of the purchasing company, it is announced, and will continue at the plant as manager.

In Alliance Once
For several years before entering the Leetonia field, Mr. Berg was engaged in the baking business in Alliance, along with F. H. Reighart of Canton.

In the meantime, the pretzel business had been started in Columbiana where it operated for three years, moving then to Leetonia. Here Mr. Berg found it, took it over, and made a profitable enterprise out of it.

The new owners are reported to be buying "business, good will and property."

Valuable Mail Bag Disappears Between Lisbon - Cleveland
LISBON, Jan. 18 — Banks here have been informed by the Federal Reserve bank, Cleveland, of the loss of a mail sack containing checks in transit between Lisbon and Cleveland.

Several hundred warrants issued at the office of County Auditor John H. Irwin were said to be in this pouch.
Payment on all "lost" checks has been "stopped." Many Lisbon mercantile house checks were lost in the alleged theft of the pouch. The amount of money represented by the lost checks has not been learned.

Bank Robbing Gang Slays Cashier and Sheriff

Fighting a running gun battle, four members of a bank robbing gang killed two men, wounded two others and a boy, and seized two persons as hostages before being captured following an unsuccessful attempt to rob a bank at Leetonia, Ill. Melvin Lind, one of the bandits, killed himself with a machine gun rather than give up. Another of the bandits, Arthur Thicken, lies seriously wounded in the La Salle hospital. Others killed were J. C. Bundy, the bank's cashier, and Sheriff Glenn Axline of Marshall County. Shown above in the back row at extreme left is Joe Gromann of the state police, who was shot by a machine gun bullet (note bandaged hand) when capturing John Hauff, seated at left in the front row; seated on the right is Fred Gerner, whose confession implicated the other three bandits, and seated in center is sheriff of La Salle, Ralph Desper, who, with the aid of his deputies, state police and private citizens, captured all four of the bandits. All of the bandits are from Rockford, Ill., except Hauff, who is from Chicago.

NEW HI SCHOOL RURAL SOLUTION

Construction of Building Would Require Bond Issue

If voters in five school districts in the western part of Columbiana county would authorize a bond issue of $20,000 to be used in the erection of a new high school, to be attended by over 700 children, these school districts combined would save approximately $43,200 now paid annually for tuition outside of the county including transportation charges.

These facts were revealed at the office of County Superintendent of Schools W. E. Roberts at Lisbon today. However, it was said, the matter of a bond issue and erection of a new high school depends entirely upon the wishes of the property owners in the several school districts.

Average Rate $9
At the present term of school, 400 children from West, Butler and Knox townships are being transported to Salem, Alliance and Augusta high schools, at an average tuition rate of $9 per pupil per month. The school term tuition charge is placed annually at $32.400. Transporting of these children has been placed at a cost of $10,800 per annum.

In the event the voters of Butler, Hanover, Knox, Kensington, West and East Rochester school districts would agree to combine and authorize a bond issue of $20,000 for new school building purposes, it is said a large central high school could be erected as a FERA project, and the several school districts save the annual tuition charge of Carroll and Stark counties, although the City of Salem is now receiving a tuition fee from the Butler school district for children from the Damascus territory.

105 to Salem
Knox township is now transporting 125 children to Alliance High school, while East Rochester and West township is sending 90 children to Minerva High. Kensington and Hanover school districts are transporting 80 children to Augusta, Carroll county high school, and Butler township is sending 103 children to Salem High school.

Petitions containing over 850 names have been filed with the county board of education asking for the erection of a centrally located high school in that township, the petition also seeking the building of a "modern brick school house."

"The entire proposition of any school building improvement rests entirely with the residents of the particular school district," Superintendent Roberts said today. "We

County Collecting Delinquent Taxes
While the state tax commission has extended the date of collection of real estate taxes, County Treasurer John C. Litty today said that partial payments on delinquent taxes are being received.

The time for collection of taxes has been advanced to March 20, Litty said today. Collection probably will begin about Feb. 20.

C.T. BROOKS IS DEAD AT HOME HERE

BULLETIN
Att'y. Charles T. Brooks, well known in eastern Ohio legal circles, died at 2:30 this afternoon at his home on Highland ave.

Att'y. Brooks was a native of Salem and lived here practically his entire life. For a number of years he was associated with the law firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey of Cleveland.

He was also active in civic and welfare affairs and was especially interested in the work of the Red Cross.

Miss Judith Brooks, his sister, died a little more than two weeks ago at her home on Highland ave.

Plaster Contract Goes To Liverpool

LISBON, Jan. 18.—Contract for plastering, largely in the annex of the court house building, has been awarded to William Reese of East Liverpool on his bid of $1,498.

Fred Paxson of Salem submitted a bid of $1,875.

In the meantime, all construction work, both skilled and unskilled, has been suspended pending the February allotment of funds at Columbus.

Midway Unit Hears State Grange Head

Walter F. Kirk, master of the Ohio State grange, spoke at an all-day officers conference at Midway grange hall recently. Mr. Kirk, speaking on the necessity for farm organizations, showed how more could be accomplished in the interests of agriculture by presenting a united front.

250 AT LISBON FARM INSTITUTE

Walter McCaskey Named President As Program Is Ended

LISBON, Jan. 18.—The second annual Lisbon Farmers' Institute closed last night with a meeting in the auditorium of the David Anderson High school. Over 250 people attended. The program was featured by special numbers arranged by members of Wayne, West Point and Lisbon granges.

Officers elected are: President, Walter McCaskey, Madison township; vice president, Wesley C. Baugh, Madison township; secretary, Helen Custer, Madison township; treasurer, Mrs. Clyde V. Hadley, Lisbon.

Tom F. Campbell, Middle Point, and Mrs. Paul B. Maxwell, Gardington, were guest speakers at the morning and afternoon sessions Wednesday and Thursday. The average attendance at these sessions was 180.

A similar institute has been proposed for next January.

Officers Elected By Lisbon Banks

LISBON, Jan. 18.—At the annual meeting of the board of directors at the People's State bank here, William H. Hepburn was re-elected president. Dallas H. Hepburn, Columbus, was elected vice president and Charles M. Young, cashier.

Officers of the Firestone bank are: President, Ross W. Firestone; vice presidents, Leland S. Firestone and Charles C. Connell; cashier, Ross C. Fox. Directors of this bank, in addition to those elected as officers, include J. Frank Adams, George A. Rogers, John H. Vogan, and Clark B. Firestone, Cincinnati, O.

France's Tri-Colors To Go Up Again on Isle of Passion

Repossession Recalls Story of Madman Who Called Self King and Decried Women His Harem

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—The tri-color of France will be hoisted again before the end of the month on the Isle of Passion.

Its repossession by France recalled the Macabre story of a mad negro who proclaimed himself king of the lonely Pacific island and decreed the women his harem. All other men on the island had perished. The negro "king" was found by a French expedition.

One body was found unburied. It was the "king of the Isle of Passion," a negro who had been lighthouse tender. The three women were wives of Mexican soldiers.

Three years before an American gunboat left stores for the islanders, and reported there were 30 men, women and children. Every four months a Mexican boat had brought supplies, but during the Huerta revolution the island was forgotten.

DEMOCRATS SEE TRIUMPH FOR SECURITY PLAN

Party Chiefs Say President's Program Will Be Passed

BORAH, HOWEVER, IS NOT SATISFIED

Suggest Payroll Tax To Provide Unemployment Insurance

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Despite signs that strenuous efforts will be made to change major features of President Roosevelt's social security program, Democratic leaders predicted today that it would go through "promptly and essentially unaltered."

Driving for quick action so states can act while 44 legislatures are in session, house leaders were said to be prepared to curb any revolting blocks by drastic rules if such a step is deemed necessary.

Praise and complaints mingled in the reaction to what the president told congress was a measure to prevent and alleviate "the dreadful consequences of economic insecurity."

The praise ranged from a remark by Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, that the program would "mark a notable advance in the improvement of living conditions," to the statement of Rep. Fish (R. N. Y.) that "I hope no liberal-minded Republican will find fault with such a humanitarian program of social welfare."

Borah Opposes Plan
Senator Borah (R. Idaho) found unsatisfactory the plan to have the federal government contribute $15 a month to $30 federal-state pensions for those now aged and needy.

"I am not satisfied to make an outline of nearly a billion dollars for armanants and $15 for old age," he said.

The Townsends, with their plan to pay $200 a month to the aged, registered strong opposition. Also, a movement was known to be in the making among some senators to re-draft the Townsend bill to offer pensions ranging from $50 to $90, financed by a federal sales tax.

In more conservative quarters some complaint was heard that the attempt to aid the aged, jobless, mothers and children and to improve public health was too sweeping. Rep. Eaton (R. N. J.) called it "too big a dose to take at one swallow" and raised the question whether it wouldn't "dry up the fountain of personal and private charity."

Suggests Payroll Tax

Senator Van Nuys (D. Ind.) took issue with the proposal to finance unemployment insurance by a payroll tax paid solely by employers and reaching 3 per cent on Jan. 1, 1938. He said workers should be required to contribute something because otherwise "the benefits are really a dole which all self-respecting labor abhors."

"Though the administration plan calls for federal expenditures of more than $98,000,000 the first year and $217,000,000 annually for several years after that, there were indications that when the legislation introduced by Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.) and Rep. Lewis (D. Md.) was rounded into final shape, these figures may be altered."

But bearing in mind the President's warning that efforts for economic security must not be "jeopardized,"

"IT'S A LIE!" SHE SHOUTS AT WITNESS, THEN APOLOGIZES

STATE BREAKS BRUNO'S CALM

"Mister, Mister, Stop Lying!" He Yells At Federal Agent

BY WILLIAM A. KINNEY.

(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 18.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, his erstwhile calm cracked and his attorney at odds, bore today the full brunt of the state's drive to trace the entire $20,000 Lindbergh ransom to his hands.

"Money, money, money, lots of money he wanted, and he got it," the state asserted, calling new witnesses to complete its case against Hauptmann for the Lindbergh baby kidnapping.

The cool young federal agent, Thomas Sisk, against whom the hot tide of Hauptmann's wrath burst, came back for cross-examination by Chief Defense Counsel Edward J. Reilly.

Reilly himself was beset by differences with his own associates, the three New Jersey lawyers protesting that the burly Brooklyn attorney was not insistent enough in his objections.

One of the defense counsel, C. Lloyd Fisher, was so incensed that he "talked from the courtroom yesterday. Another, it was learned authoritatively, consulted Justice Thomas W. Trenchard about withdrawing from the case, but was advised to stay.

Fisher and Reilly, apparently patching up their rift, at least temporarily, paid a nocturnal visit to Hauptmann's cell, but they did not disclose the trend of the interview.

Reilly, his face growing redder and redder, said the defense would contest more vehemently the rest of the state's evidence, asserting: "We are admitting nothing."

His first chance came in cross-examination of Sisk, to whom Hauptmann, his sullen eyes flashing from their dark sockets, cried out yesterday, "mister, mister, you stop lying!"

Calls for Reports

Reilly directed Sisk, a moving figure in the federal drive that brought Hauptmann's arrest and an important witness in the attempt to link Hauptmann with the ransom heard, to produce in court confidential reports on the case.

After Sisk, the state lined up methodically the witnesses it said would place $49,960 of the ransom money in Hauptmann's possession.

Z. K. Jones, 91, Dies At North Jackson

Z. K. Jones, 91, died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Kale, North Jackson. He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. E. E. Kale and by one son, G. F. Jones, 1185 E. Third st., Salem, with whom he had made his home for the last few years. He is survived also by six grandchildren and five great grandchildren, three sisters, Mrs. Ada Webster and Mrs. Minnie Leach, of Lordstown, and Mrs. Martha Webster, Cleveland.

Mr. Jones was a member of the Salem Christian church and was well known in this city.

Funeral service will be held at the North Jackson Federated church at 2 p. m. Sunday. There will be a short service at the home first. Interment will be at the North Jackson cemetery.

Rural School Heads Meet With Roberts

Superintendents of all village schools in the county met at Lisbon Thursday afternoon with County Superintendent of Schools W. E. Roberts to discuss plans for the annual spring rural school spelling and late fall declaiming contests.

A program for the annual Teachers' institute here next May was also to be outlined.

A revised course of study in rural and village schools was discussed. Superintendents attending the session represented New Waterford, Columbiana, Leetonia, Fairfield Centralized and Sallineville schools.

MRS. DALL WEDS IN WASHINGTON

President's Daughter Is Bride of Former Newspaperman

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—The president and Mrs. Roosevelt today announced the marriage of their daughter, Anna Roosevelt Dall, to John Boettlinger, former Chicago newspaperman.

The ceremony took place this morning about 9 o'clock at the president's home in New York City on East 65th street. It was performed by Judge J. Frederic Kernochan of New York, intimate friend of the family.

President's Mother Attends
Mrs. Roosevelt and members of the family attended. The others present included Mrs. James Roosevelt, Sr., mother of the president, Mrs. James Roosevelt, Jr., Elliott, a brother, and his wife, Ruth; John, another brother, and Harry Hooker, a close friend of the family.

The couple immediately left for an unannounced destination. Boettlinger has been residing in New York City and they will make their home there.

He recently left the Chicago Tribune and is now employed with the Motion Picture Products of America.

They became friends during the Roosevelt campaign transcontinental tour when Mrs. Dall was with her father and Boettlinger covered the trip for the Tribune. Later he was assigned to the Washington staff of the newspaper.

Divorced Last July
In a ten-minute court proceeding, Mrs. Dall was divorced from her first husband—Curtis B. Dall, a broker—last July 30 at Minden, Nevada. She charged "extreme cruelty." They had been married eight years.

Custody of the Dall children, "Sislie" and "Buzzie," who stay at the White House, was provided for in a written agreement. Its terms were not made public.

The Dalls separated in 1933. Dall remained in New York City to conduct his brokerage business and Mrs. Dall going to the White House to live.

NEIGHBOR ON STAND AT TIME

Testifies Mrs. Hauptmann Said She Had Been On Trip

BY WILLIAM A. KINNEY.

(Copyright, 1935, By The Associated Press)
FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 18.—Anna Hauptmann's nerve broke today at the trial of her husband for his life.

"It's a lie!" she shouted at a witness.

Mrs. Ella Auchenbach, a Hauptmann neighbor in the Bronx, was the witness. She testified Mrs. Hauptmann came to her two days after the kidnapping of Baby Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., and said she and her husband had just returned from a trip.

"You lie, Mrs. Auchenbach, you lie!" Mrs. Hauptmann flared.

Court Room Aroused
Both sides leaped to their feet. So did spectators.

Mrs. Hauptmann's face, usually pale and placid, was livid.

"I want that in the record," Attorney General David T. Wilentz demanded with heat. "This is not the second, but the third time the Hauptmanns have interrupted."

"I want to know whether they or the court are trying this case. I know the court is."

"The defendant and his wife are under high tension," Edward J. Reilly, chief of the defense staff, pleaded in their behalf.

Justice Thomas W. Trenchard shook his head, dubiously.

"Madam," Justice Trenchard said to Mrs. Hauptmann "don't you see the impropriety of this outburst. I am asking you, don't you see?"

Mrs. Hauptmann stood silent.

"What you promise you won't do it again?"

"I like to try but sometimes I can't help," she apologized.

Suggests Bruno Apologize
"I'll not again offend these gentlemen and the jury."

Justice Trenchard suggested that Hauptmann promise, too. Reilly interposed, his client had wanted to apologize

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

SAN SIMEON, Cal.—FROM ONE window on this ranch you see the Pacific Ocean, curving downward toward mysterious Asia. From another window you see toward the East, rows of mountain ranges stretching north and south, the heavy backbone of this continent.

Thin clouds almost cover the sky on the Pacific over toward the Asiatic coast, dark near the water, white with blue openings above. You wonder when a REAL air fleet of four or five thousand war planes will come through such a thin curtain of clouds, fly over those mountains, and on eastward to deal with United States cities, including the Capitol at Washington.

Everything is calm along our side of the Pacific, TOO CALM, as regards any sort of defense. A fleet of hostile planes could come, finish their work, and it would all be over, before our "national defense system" could know anything about it.

That should interest some one in Washington.

HOW COULD any Asiatic power send a fleet over the Pacific, do you ask?

Less than twenty-five years ago, Lord Northcliffe offered $50,000 to anyone that would fly across the English Channel. That was thought impossible. The other day Amelia Earhart, a young woman, alone, without sleep, with no pilot, flew over twenty-four hundred miles of the Pacific in eighteen hours.

And did you not notice the plan of the brilliant Pilot Wiley Post, who expects soon to cross the Pacific, thirty-five thousand feet up, using an oxygen suit and crossing in about seven hours, as he told Will Rogers?

Did you fail to notice that Russia has built a heavy plane that has flown seven thousand five hundred miles without refueling? That plane could cross the Pacific ocean in one hop.

What Russia, Wiley Post or Amelia Earhart can do, any Asiatic power could do, with highly trained pilots relieving each other, getting plenty of sleep. A few planes might fall on the way, but that would make no difference in the final result.

THE SAAR plebiscite, as was certain in advance, proves to be superficially a victory for Hitler. In reality, it proves the devotion of Germans to Germany under any conditions.

With the population of the Saar more than ninety-five per cent German, voters were asked whether they wished once more to resume German citizenship, though in their lot with France, or risk suspension in the air as wards of a fine League of Nations. It was certain that Germans would vote for Germany.

FORTUNATELY certain stipulations made by the League of Nations before the vote, included one compelling Germany, if she won, to allow all minority residents in the Saar one year, in which to move out of the country if they chose, free of all molestation, with the right to dispose of their property without taxation or other charges, and take the proceeds with them.

This is of utmost importance to the great number of Jews that migrated into the Saar district when Hitler rose to power.

Those that remained in Germany after Hitler's victory may not sell their property and take the proceeds with them if they would, whereas those in the Saar have the League of Nations' solemn guarantee of freedom to sell and emigrate.

Disquieting news comes from the Saar about Jewish shops closed in fear of violence, and threats of all kinds. What happens in the Saar to Jews especially, now that the region once more becomes German, will be a test only of German good faith following Hitler's promise to the league, but also and particularly a test of League of Nations' strength and courage to act.

The duty of the League would be to re-enter the Saar and take possession following the molestation of any minority, or interference with minority rights.

By its action in this matter the League of Nations will be judged.

"Girl of The Limberlost" Heads Bill At State; "Silver Streak" at Grand

ROMANCE, speed and tense dramatic action are said to be deftly combined in the story of "The Silver Streak", scheduled for the Grand theater Saturday and Sunday.

Good Cast
The cast includes Sally Blane, Charles Starrett, Hardie Albright, William Farnum, Irving Pichel, Arthur Lake, Theodor von Eltz, Guinn Williams, Edgar Kennedy and Doris Dawson.

The film records the crowning achievement of a century of railroading, and brings glimpses of the new streamline train of the Burlington railroad, rechristened the "silver streak".

In addition to the fast new train, which is beautiful to watch in motion, the first pictures of Boulder dam are brought to the screen. Scenes of the new Moffat tunnel, that put Denver on the main line of a transcontinental railroad and required 20 years to drill are screened. Scenes of the Chicago World fair are to be seen along with scenic background of the famed Royal Gorge and the beautiful Colorado river country west of Denver.

Sally Blane

Exciting Story
The love interest of the story is carried by Miss Blane, as the daughter of the railroad president, and Starrett as a young engineer. There are plenty of thrills as "the silver streak" races at an incredible speed with the engineer at death grips in the cab. Around curves it goes, and through switches that open just in time, missing freight trains by an eyelash, and over drawbridges in the nick of time.

State's Offering
"Girl Of The Limberlost" is at the State this evening and Saturday. Marian Marsh enacts the leading role with a charm and ability she has not shown in former films.

The remainder of the cast is splendid, too. There is Louise Dresser, always a reliable actress, who scores again as the mother; Ralph Morgan, H. B. Walthall, Edward Nugent, GIGI Parrish, Helen Jerome Eddy, Betty Blythe and Barbara Bedford.

Author's Own Land
The story, written by Gene Stratton Porter, deals with the conscientious efforts of Elmore Comstock to gain an education. Much of the original charm of Indiana scenery and the naturalness of the characters have been retained in the film.

Officers Named By Trimble Presbyterian Church Class

Mrs. Ernest Vincent President; Mrs. G. W. Bunn Teacher

The Trimble class of the Presbyterian church held its quarterly business meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. R. S. Fidler, Tenth st.

Election of officers resulted as follows: Teacher, Mrs. G. W. Bunn; president, Mrs. Ernest Vincent; vice president, Mrs. Harry Percival; secretary, Miss Rebecca Phyllis and treasurer, Miss Ruby Grove.

Following the devotion and the business session a social time was enjoyed with accordion numbers by Miss Olive Resler and harp selections by Miss Catherine Hole. Lunch was served by Mrs. Fidler.

Plans were made for the party March 7 at which time the members will entertain their husbands.

Couple Are Wed In Church Study

Mrs. Rosina Miller and Michael Krauss were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m. by Rev. John Bauman in the study of the Emmanuel Lutheran church.

Mrs. John Bauman and Mrs. Elizabeth Michel were witnesses. The double ring ceremony was used.

Officers Named By Choir Members

The mothers of the Junior choir of the Christian church met last evening with Mrs. Andrew Dixon, president, in charge. Other officers elected at the last meeting are: Vice president, Mrs. George Loder; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Jesse Beck.

"PASS" IS BEST BID SOMETIMES

Conservative, Generally, Kibitzer Says

Kibitzer, who will be gazing over varied shoulders this evening at the fifth meeting of the Salem Duplicate Bridge club, at the Memorial building, today quotes bridge experts as declaring that it is often said that the best bid in bridge is to pass.

By this they mean that it is the best bid to pass your partner's bid, slightly more than 60 per cent of the time, so as to hold the contract, below game; as statistics have proven that slightly less than 40 per cent of the hands dealt, make game and nearer 30 per cent of the hands are biddable to game.

Generally speaking, the conservative player, one who, unless he has the count in the combined hands is satisfied with 1, 2 or 3 of a suit bid, is the one who will get the best average results over a period of several duplicate sessions. Of course one can be too cautious, yet mathematically the more conservative player will average higher than the player who is always gambling on himself or his partner to pick up that extra trick.

If one would follow that old maxim, when in doubt, pass, their score would be generally speaking, better off.

Mr. Lunky Plays
Mr. Lunky and partner were playing rubber bridge one night (as you know very often the cards in this sort of contract game will run against you). The players were pivoting after each rubber, and Mr. Lunky was the pivot man in the last rubber. His partner might be the cards would run the opposite direction. After playing four rubbers, Mr. Lunky the scorer began to figure his losses at the agreed price of 1-10 per point, and found that he was $4.10 in the red. Lunky (like we all) began to think the gods of fortune were against him and very naturally became quite grouchy.

It was decided to play one more rubber and as Lunky dealt the third hand, being vulnerable, looked at his hand, held a bust, and, in a low monotone said "by me." The opponent in the East passed, Lunky's partner holding a 3-4 count and holding five diamonds Jack high, immediately bid 3 diamonds (a just raise). West passed, East passed and Lunky's partner proceeded to tell Lunky what terrible bridge he played passing a jump raise.

The East player, trying to offset the argument, led the Ace of clubs, and Lunky informed him that it was not his lead, but the other players, however, informed Lunky that he had bid an original Diamond and must play the hand at three diamonds. Mr. Lunky held only a singleton diamond and put up quite an argument but, finally played the hand, went set 7 tricks. Vulnerable, nearly 2000 points at 1-10, tore the deck of cards up to this day Mr. Lunky declares he did not bid a Diamond. Moral—Do not be conservative in pronouncing your bid.

Bethlehem Class Has Meeting

Thirty-three were present at the meeting of the Bethlehem class of the Methodist church Thursday afternoon at the church.

After the business meeting a program was given including two piano solos by Miss Margaret Kirkbride; vocal solo by Mrs. R. L. Smith, accompanied by Miss Kirkbride at the piano, and a play, entitled "The Wrong Baby."

Lunch was served by the following hostesses, Mrs. E. M. Peters, Mrs. Cecil Baxter, Mrs. Vollmer, Mrs. Ira Burton and Mrs. M. S. Stacy.

The next meeting will be Feb. 21 at the church.

Mrs. R. A. Shoar Is Hostess

Mrs. R. A. Shoar, Georgetown rd., entertained the members of the Sunshine society at her home yesterday afternoon and evening. Plans were made for an Easter supper to be held Feb. 2 at Willow Grove grange hall for the members and their families.

Mrs. Ray Shoar, Beloit, was a guest.

The society will meet with Mrs. Brian Sanor on the Georgetown road, Feb. 2.

Bridge Diversion At Club Meeting

Two tables of bridge provided the evening's entertainment at the meeting last evening of the Happy Nine club at the home of Mrs. Gerald Lippert, McKimley Heights. Miss Arvela Baisley and Mrs. Harold Lepper won prizes.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Roland Weingart, Orchard rd., Feb. 7. It will be a party in honor of her birthday.

Mrs. Leroy Beery Club Hostess

Ellsworth Avenue club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leroy Beery on the Ellsworth road. The regular meeting was followed by a social time. A card of thanks for sympathy expressed in the death of Mrs. Alice Barnes was read.

Mrs. C. D. Carr will entertain the club Jan. 31 at her home on the Ellsworth road.

W. B. A. Convenes at Hoch Home

The Women's Benefit association met last evening at the home of Mrs. Harry Hoch, Cleveland st.

Cards were the feature of the evening and the prize for high score was awarded Mrs. Beck.

A special business meeting will be held in two weeks at the hall, North Broadway.

Mrs. Jack Ballantine will leave shortly with her brother, David Cope, for Arizona, where she will join her husband, who left Salem for that point Tuesday.

Russell Stratton, Nick Pithian and Joe Kelley attended the Cleveland Automobile show today.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 18.—W. F. Wiley, general manager of the Cincinnati Enquirer, is the newly elected president of the Ohio Newspaper association. Granville Barrere, publisher of the Hillsboro News-Tribune, is vice president and Chester McTammany of the Columbus Citizen, secretary-treasurer.

ENJOY MORE SUNNY DAYS

Your moods, your actions, your very personality—all are influenced by the state of your health. Avoid common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. This ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. It takes the color out of living.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a natural laxative food, furnishes you with this needed "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN remains effective with continued use. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Isn't this cereal food better than patent medicines?

ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron. Serve it as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, waffles, etc. It's much more satisfactory than part-bran products. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

are not urging any proposition, but are only showing what can be accomplished in the event the people want to go ahead with an improvement program.

Building at Calcutta
LISBON, Jan. 18.—The state department of education has certified $16,435 to the county board of education to be used for materials in the erection of a new school building at Calcutta, St. Clair township.

Cost of labor has been estimated and certified to the Columbus FERA office for certification. The new building will be erected on the site of the present school at Calcutta, and plans for the improvement have been prepared by Charles F. Ossley of Youngstown.

A six-room building is to be erected, being of brick and steel construction.

An additional appropriation of $2,500 has been certified by the state department to the local county board for other school improvements.

It has also been proposed by the Yellow Creek township board of education to add another room to the Fairview school building at a cost of $815. When this room is ready for occupancy, the board proposes to transport children from the Coal Hollow district to this school, and also about 25 children from the Fairview territory in the new building, and who are not being transported to Wellsville for school purposes. This latter plan will save the Yellow Creek board of education about $1,900 annually.

Plans for the remodeling of the Fairview school have been prepared by Architect Cunningham of East Liverpool.

Program Is Given By Butler Grange

Twenty-nine members of Butler grange were present at the meeting Thursday evening in the grange hall.

The meeting opened with roll call. "What would you like most of all on the programs this year?" followed by questions by the lecturer in charge of the meeting. A report was given by Mrs. W. D. Edgerton and Oliver Conser of the grange officers conference at Midway grange hall Monday, Jan. 14.

J. J. King named and discussed various phases of the emergency administration. The question, "Does it actually pay to raise hogs for your own use?" was debated by H. J. Mountz and Oliver Conser.

A reading, "The 1935 Twenty-Third Psalm" was given by Mrs. C. L. Brown, followed by a discussion conducted by Mrs. H. J. Mountz.

Mrs. C. L. Brown and Mrs. W. D. Edgerton on "Is it cheaper to buy fresh fruit and all the necessities to can them than to buy them already canned in the stores?" The concluding number on the program was a stunt by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Walten.

The grange hall is being redecorated preparatory to installing a new stage curtain in the lower hall. The labor is being donated by the members.

The grange will meet again Jan. 31.

Princess Barbara Off For Reunion With Prince Alexis

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Princess Barbara Hutton Midland, heiress to the Woolworth millions, sails tonight for the sunny skies of Egypt and a reunion with her husband, the roving Georgian Prince Alexis.

Her journey to the land of the Pharaohs is the princess' answer to recurrent rumors of a rift between her and the prince.

Reports of a disagreement, previously current in England, were renewed when she sailed alone for New York last fall to spend the holidays with her father, and the prince went to India to hunt tigers and play polo.

The princess denied the report on her arrival in New York and explained the prince's trip with the remark that "a man has to do something."

Her trip to Egypt will be rather a circuitous one and she does not expect to arrive there until some time in March.

Accompanied by her cousin, "Jimmy" Donahue, she plans to go first to London, then fly to Paris for a brief stay. After that she will go to Cairo to meet the prince. They plan to visit the Holy Land and Arabia and return to London in April.

Meantime, cousin "Jimmy," who is leaving a position as assistant stage manager for Gilbert Miller to accompany her, expects to return home long before April to take a new position with Miller.

steamer, which he imagined to be near the island. The boat overturned and the four were drowned.

How the other men died is questionable. Mexican reports said the negro lightkeeper slaughtered them. The women said they just died. They said the negro also just died, but the American naval officer found his head crushed in the fatal hammer beside it. He was slain the day before the Yorktown arrived.

The island was awarded to France by the king of Italy, who served as referee in the Franco-Mexican dispute. As far as is known it is uninhabited now.

REFUGEES FLEE FROM NAZI SAAR

Hundreds Seek Haven In France; Death Tales Prove False

(By Associated Press)

SARREGUEMINES, France, Jan. 18.—Hundreds of refugees sought haven in France today from the Nazi Saar Basin territory, and authorities completed arrangements to send them speedily to the south of France.

Another batch was going today, making room for other anti-Nazi clamoring at the gates of Sarreguemines and Forbach.

Tales Prove False
Investigation showed most tales of Nazi atrocities, including the slaying of two Communists at Neuenkirchen, were false.

An Associated Press correspondent who went to Neuenkirchen found one of the "murdered" Communists well and healthy in his home.

The Communist, Karl Lichtenberger, said he had not been bothered and that Hans Matthieu, the other anti-Nazi reported slain, was well as far as he knew.

(A dispatch from Metz said two Saar Gendarmes who crossed into France in pursuit of two women emigres were held by French authorities for investigation.)

Women and children, carrying their few possessions in bags and sheets, were among the refugees. Many of them walked through slush and sleet across the border while others came by train.

Several of the women were ill at a dormitory established for the deserting Saarlanders by French authorities.

Complete Records

LISBON, Jan. 18.—Over 600 unemployed who had not filed registration cards with the county relief office here since last September filed relief applications here during last two days, it was said here this morning by those in charge of registration desks. A complete history of every applicant and the family history has been recorded.

In addition to this registration, the record of over 4,000 individuals now on relief in this county was to be filed today with federal officials. This new record was completed Thursday, after clerical forces were given day and night employment to finish the record.

Five Members of "Tri-State" Gang Nabbed In N. York

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Robert Maie, 29, and Walter Legenza, 41, who shot their way out of a Richmond, Va., prison, and three other members of the "tri-state" gang, were arrested in New York, the department of justice announced today.

The other three under arrest, Frank Fay of the department of justice said, were Mary McKeever, 34; Martin Farrell, 28, and Edwin Gale, 23.

Maie was surprised in an apartment at 6 Manhattan avenue at 3:30 a. m., and was captured in bed. Federal operatives and Philadelphia and New York police had surrounded by the apartment house, and entered the apartment door so unexpectedly that Maie had no time to reach for a .38 calibre automatic pistol that was at his side.

The first taken into custody were Farrell and Gale, seized in a midtown hotel yesterday morning. Fay said.

Legenza next was located in a Manhattan hospital where he was receiving treatment for a broken leg. His arrest took place last night, as did that of the McKeever woman who was visiting the patient.

Officers Re-elected

DEMOCRATS SEE PLAN WINNING

Party Chiefs Say President's Program Will Be Passed

ardized now by extravagant action", the Democratic leaders were sweeping the boards for action. Chairman Pat Harrison of the senate finance committee scheduled hearings for next Tuesday.

Harrison Calls Meeting

Harrison planned to call Wagner, Secretary of Labor Perkins and others to explain the plan. Meantime, the house ways and means committee, headed by Rep. Douthton (D-N.C.) sidetracked the bonus, for a time, to start social security hearings next week.

A tangle in the house over the question what committee should handle the legislation threatened trouble.

Chairman Connery (D-Mass.) of the house labor committee, had thought his committee would have the old age and unemployment insurance plans. But the whole thing was tied into one bill and sent to the ways and means committee.

So Connery called his group together today to see about reporting out a pension plan before the ways and means committee can get started.

Republican Conference

Republicans were not joining as a group in the generally favorable Democratic reaction. Rep. Snell of New York, minority floor leader, declined to comment, pending a Republican conference.

Other Republican chiefs followed
Snell's lead. Asked when the G.
O. P. conference would be held
one of them replied:

"We can't have a conference until we know what the other fellow is going to do. When he shows what he's got—in other words, when the bill begins to shape up in committee hearings—then we can act."

The administration bill introduced in the house differs in one respect from the one offered by Senator Wagner. That is in connection with the proposal to let persons under 65 buy annuities.

Wagner put a maximum maturity value of $8,000 on these; the house bill proposed a maximum of a $100 a month.

Plan In Brief
There were few comments on specific proposals in the bills. Most members felt they required greater study. The administration's plans in brief, call for:
Unemployment insurance financed by a 3 per cent payroll tax; a three-way old age pension plan for those over 65, centering upon employer-employee donations through payroll levies; cooperative federal-state help for mothers, and dependent children, and an extension of public health service.

Man Who Recalled Lincoln Succumbs In Massillon at 98

CANTON, Jan. 18.—William Henry Vincent, 98, pioneer Ohio hotel operator, who cared for the wants of Abraham Lincoln when he stopped at his hotel in Alliance in 1861, was dead today at his home in Massillon. He has been ill two weeks with pneumonia.

Mr. Vincent, a native of England, came to America in 1852. In addition to his affiliation with hotels in Alliance and Massillon he served for a time as operator of the Croxton house, one of Cleveland's finest hotels of an earlier period.
His first job was with the Weddell house at Cleveland where he went to work in 1856.

He was recently freed from the Indiana institution where he was serving a sentence for theft of the girl's body. Although ownership of the trunk in which the heads of the other four women were found eight years ago was traced to him by Federal authorities, while he was still incarcerated the case was permitted to lapse.

The district attorney said the Negro, who is being held in jail here for safekeeping, is abnormal.
When he was arrested in Cleveland officers found Turner's watch in one pocket and a piece of flesh, which the Negro told Rice he had cut from Mrs. Turner's body, in another pocket.

Bodies of 5 Women
From Graves

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 18.—The murder of two persons, mutilation of their bodies and theft of the bodies of five women from graves was confessed today by James H.
Coyner, giant Negro, district Attorney Greer Rice arraigned.

Coyner, a paroled convict from the Indiana state penitentiary at Michigan City, admitted, Rice said, battering to death with a hammer
Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Turner of Cleveland, Miss., Dec. 9, theft of the body of a girl from a grave in Indiana and desecration of burial places of four women at Ferdinand, Mich.

Heads Found In Trunk

The women's heads were found in a trunk owned by the Negro.
The body of Mrs. Turner had been mutilated and portions of it were found in the Negro's possession when he was arrested last week in Cleveland.

He was recently freed from the Indiana institution where he was serving a sentence for theft of the girl's body. Although ownership of the trunk in which the heads of the other four women were found

ROTARY CLUB HEARS SPEAKER

W. H. Van Fossen Tells Of Travels To Columbian Group

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 18.—W. H. Van Fossen of Lisbon, former state senator and teacher, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Columbian Rotary club held in the social room of the Lutheran church. Prof. Van Fossen gave an interesting rambling talk on the highlights of a recent motor trip through the state of Virginia. He touched on a number of its interesting towns and cities and related in detail much of the historic background of these places relating to Civil war and post-revolutionary times that the average tourist does not gather in his travels.

He was introduced by Judge H. W. Hammond, chairman of the program committee. President G. W. Griswold announced that he had made up his attendance last week at Youngstown, thus giving the local club another meeting with perfect attendance.

The Standard Bearers of the Methodist church, with their county, Mrs. S. L. Morris met in the church social room recently for a monthly business meeting and covered dinner. Jane Stratton led the devotionals and Ada Newell presented the lesson taken from the study book on "Typhoon Days in Japan". Virginia Patchen conducted the business session. There were 17 in attendance.

Kiwanis Club Meets
The Kiwanis club met Monday evening at the Christian church with 30 members present as well as the following guests: Rev. D. S. Lamb, J. O. Harewood and Paul Price. The meeting was in charge of the new officers with the new president, Dr. C. W. Dewalt, presiding. Rev. William E. Shaw, a returned missionary from Korea was the guest speaker, using as his subject "Korea". The meeting next week will mark the 20th anniversary of Kiwanis International and will be held at the Christian church. The program will be in charge of Mark Klingensmith. 1. F. Mellinger, Leetonia, will be the speaker.

Luther Leaguers Rally

The Tri-City Luther league will hold a rally Sunday afternoon and evening at the Columbian Lutheran church. At 2:30 a program of entertainment will be presented. Following the social period an oyster supper will be served at 5:30. At 6:30 meeting will be open to the public. Rev. D. S. Lamb of the Methodist church will be the guest speaker. Program numbers will include a vocal duet by Martha and Julia Varian, and one by Carol and Helen Simpson.

Mrs. Charles Crowell, of East Palestine is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Lindsay, and family.

Legion Auxiliary Meets
The regular meeting of the Ladies' auxiliary of Benjamin Firestone post, American legion was held Wednesday evening, with a covered dish supper at six p. m. Three new candidates were initiated into membership. Auxiliary members will attend the county council meeting tonight at East Palestine.

Mrs. Anna Hammond entertained a group of school friends Monday evening as a farewell surprise for Jane Oesch, who will leave soon with her family to make her home near North Lima. Games and contests were enjoyed, after which lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Lester Harrold has entered the Salem City hospital for surgical treatment.

Mrs. Ola Wingard and son, John, have returned from Cleveland, where they visited relatives.

The Queen Esther class of Grace Evangelical - Reformed Sunday school will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. G. R. Hoover, County Line rd.

Mrs. Sarah Unger is recovering from a week's illness with grip.

Lee Shaffer, Salem visited Wednesday with his uncle, Ray Harrold

MEETING HELD BY STUDY CLUB

Columbian Group Is Entertained by Mrs. Donald Zellers

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 18.—The Columbian Music Study club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Donald Zellers, W. Salem St. Mrs. Roy Weaver had charge of the chapter in the study book, "The Violin Family," as prepared by Mrs. C. R. Todd, who was unable to be present on account of illness. Mrs. G. O. Patchen sang "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice," by Saint-Saens, accompanied by Mrs. R. J. Barrow. Mrs. C. H. Shontz gave an illustration and story of "Invitation to the Waltz" by Weber, and Miss Martha Zimmerman played "The Waltz of the Flowers" by Tchaikowsky. The program closed with a biography of Rimsky-Korsakoff given by Mrs. C. E. Bender. The January 30 meeting will be held at the home of Miss Margaret Stewart.

Mrs. Coyle Hostess
Mrs. John Coyle was hostess at a "Chinese tea" to 37 members of the Home Missionary society of the M. E. church. Mrs. J. E. Hollenhead led the devotionals and Mrs. T. M. Hyland had charge of a short business session. Announcement was made of the annual World Day of Prayer on March 8, under the auspices of the Christian church.

Mrs. J. A. Richardson sang a solo, "I would Be True," and Mrs. J. A. Richardson gave a talk on "Spiritual Life." Mrs. V. C. Basinger talked on "Orientals in America," and Mrs. John Hum on "Looking Forward and Thinking Backward in Missionary Work." Mrs. C. A. Richardson read a poem, "Service Report in Rhyme." Mrs. Hyland also conducted a questionnaire pertaining to missionary work in the Northeast Ohio Conference. Refreshments closed the program.

Mrs. Donald Zellers welcomed members of the Columbian Mothers' club at her home, W. Salem St., with 30 present. Mrs. C. P. Eyster conducted the business session and Mrs. Everett Warrick read a paper on "What Will Your Child Be When He Grows Up?" Mrs. Carl Keller had charge of a questionaire on that subject. Mrs. R. M. Gaver sang, accompanied by Mrs. Zellers. Mrs. Leo Sponseller will be the next club hostess.

Men's Club Meets

The monthly meeting of the Men's club of the Christian church was held in the church social room with G. H. Everett presiding. Officers were elected as follows: President, G. H. Everett; vice president, Leslie Turnbull, Sr.; secretary, J. A. Todd; treasurer, D. J. Holloway; chorister, Roy Faulk. Mr. Holloway had charge of the devotional service. Music and games during the social period were in charge of Clinton Faulk and Chester DeLauter. Refreshments were served by Paul Gleckman, Mathew Powers and Robert Exten. The February meeting will be held on the 8th.

The Bethany class of the Christian Sunday school taught by Mrs. H. W. Lundgren met at the home of Jeanne Todd, County Line rd. Miss Todd had charge of the program, assisted by Edith Flohr and Betty Funk. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the social period.

Mrs. R. C. Dieffenbacher was hostess to members of the Needlecraft club at her home, N. Main st. Bridge was the main diversion, followed by the serving of a dainty lunch.

Harry Herrman has returned from Detroit, where he attended a convention of automobile dealers.

Mrs. Libbie Acker, Lakeville, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. L. Dieffenbacher, N. Main st.

Ohio Gang Roundup Solves Robberies

AKRON, Jan. 18.—The northern Ohio bandit gang which terrorized Akron and Canton last fall was declared smashed as police announced five robberies involving loot of more than $6,000 had been solved.

Highway robbery warrants were sworn out for eight alleged gunmen who were identified by robbery victims as men who had held them up in the last few months. All but one of the suspects were brought here from Cleveland.

In addition to the five robberies already solved, police believed the $7,000 robbery of the F. W. Albrecht Grocery Co. was on the verge of settlement.

Twelve other men taken in the Cleveland roundup remain in that city for questioning.

Bits of News From The World Of Athletics

With deft maneuvering, George M. Trautman, the towering, genial, red-headed president of the Columbus Red Birds, is sliding his club into strategic position for the coming American association pennant race.

Trautman hopes to make it "three in a row" for the Red Birds, who copped the pennant last year and the year before.

The latest move of the Columbus club's prey has been to purchase outright first baseman Don Hurst from the Chicago Cubs. Hurst will occupy the place of Mickey Heath, recently traded to Indianapolis for Frank Sugar.

A left-hand batter and thrower, Hurst is a protégé of the Red Bird prexy, having had Trautman as his freshman baseball coach at Ohio State university before entering a professional baseball career.

Paul Pirrone, crack Cleveland middleweight who lost his first decision in his last 17 starts to Vince Dundee at Philadelphia Monday night, has been signed to battle Babe Risko at Philadelphia Feb. 6, manager, Eddie Mead, announced last night.

Ulysses Mitchell of Barborton, who alternates at center and forward, is leading the scorers in the Northeastern Ohio Big Six league with 112 points in 12 games. He scored 20 in games with Cuyahoga Falls and Akron Kenmore last week to pass the century mark.

Larry Snyder, Ohio State university track coach, probably boasts one of the most colorful careers of anyone on the campus. Snyder attended Dartmouth and Ohio State, was an aviator in the World War, worked in California, Alaska, and in the wheat fields of Calgary, later returning to Ohio State as assistant track coach.

When the umpire calls "Play ball" and opens the 1935 season of the Cleveland Indians, it will again be heard over radio station WHK at Cleveland, with Jack Graney doing the sports casting.

Host of Golfers Ready to Tee Off In Open Tourney

(By Associated Press)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 18.—With Victor Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., who won the Los Angeles open, on deck, virtually the entire field of nationally-famous professionals and outstanding western amateurs were ready today to tee off in the $1,500 Sacramento Open golf championship tomorrow.

Among the favorites are Ghezzi, Jimmie Revolta, Milwaukee youth who tied Ghezzi for the Los Angeles open crown and lost in the playoff; Jimmie Thompson, long-hitting Long Beach pro; Horton Smith, Oak Park, Ill., Ky. Lafoon, Denver ace; and Gene Sarazen of New York, one of the game's greatest money players.

Long hitters are given an edge in the tourney and so Thompson and Ghezzi have been ranked high among the favorites.

Other widely-known pros entered include Denny Shute, former British open champion.

RACING NOTES

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—Interest in the Santa Anita $100,000 handicap was quickened a pace or two today as a welcoming committee went out to escort Cavalcade, high money winner of 1934 racing season, to Santa Anita park.

True, Twenty Grand, with all the discussion of his lameness after sensational workouts, Mate, Equipoise, Statesman and others, have done pretty well to keep interest alive in the handicap of February 29.

But Mrs. Dodge Sloane's four-year-old, winner of $111,235 in 1934 when he captured the Kentucky, American and Detroit derbies, is, after all, the future book favorite.

Twenty Grand yesterday answered the rumors that his lameness at the end of a run was increased and that he is far from a sound horse, by going a mile in 1:40 1-5 with Silvio Couci in the saddle. "The Dickey" showed up as usual but the Kentucky Derby winner of 1931 walked out of it quickly.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 18.—A compromise proposal intended to bring about an agreement between turfmen wrangling over the modified open claiming rule was presented today to the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, which is drawing up a code to govern horse racing in the United States.

President Birch, president of the American Trainers association, offered the compromise rule, a modification of a regulation recommended earlier in the convention by the American Breeders association which was opposed by Rhode Island commissioners.

The suggested compromise reads: "No horse shall be entered in a claiming race for less than twice the value of the purse to the winner is $600 or better, further excepting claiming stakes."

Detroit Tigers Club Prepares For Another World Pennant Fight

No Holdouts In Sight; Spring Training Drill At Lakeland, Fla., Just Six Weeks Away; Several Players At Hot Springs, Ark.

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Jan. 18.—The Detroit Tigers, the club that made the turnstiles click for the American League last year, were picking up the odds and ends around the front office today, getting ready for another pennant fight without a hold out in sight unless Schoolboy Rowe decides to hold out — for more pitching assignments.

The business relations between Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit baseball club, and his players are a club secret, and baseball men cannot remember when hold-outs worried the Tiger manager since Ty Cobb and Dutch Leonard were classed as hold-outs.

The start of the "Tigers" spring drill at Lakeland, Fla., is six weeks away, but the foundation for another pennant drive has already begun with the order of Pitcher Tommy Bridges and Marvin Owen, the third baseman, to Hot Springs

Crowder, who was sold to the Tigers last year just in time to cut in on the finish of the pennant fight, may also be sent to Hot Springs.

The club management already has Rowe's pitching arm under examination to make certain he will be ready for another fling at a new record for consecutive victories.

Manager Mickey Cochrane is expected to depend upon Rowe, Bridges, Crowder and Eldon Auker to combine their talents in winning the biggest share of 100 ball games in the 1935 campaign. Rowe was one of the pace setters of the league last season, tying the league record for consecutive victories but falling short of a new mark for both leagues.

Crowder and Auker, the latter having the best earned run average of the staff last year, are expected to be important factors in the 1935 campaign.

Methodists Give Scots
Fast Evening In Conference Game

Leonard Swanson who serves very actively as a guard for the Kenyon college basketball team put some fresh figures in his scoring average last night as Kenyon defeated Hiram, 44 to 41.

Swanson looped in 12 field goals, and added a free throw for a total of 25 points. Before last night Swanson had an average better than 10 points a game.

Mount Union, riding along on a big wave at the top of the Ohio conference, gave Wooster a fast evening at Alliance and wound up with its fifth Ohio conference victory. The score was 43 to 21.

At Manchester, O., Pikesville (Ky.) college defeated Alfred Holbrook, 31 to 23.

Ashland college found more than it could handle at Akron university and lost 30 to 19.

Dayton university went over to Richmond, Ind., to meet Earlham college. After getting there, Dayton could only make three field goals and eight free throws against a troublesome defense, and Earlham won easily, 43 to 14.

Olin-Lewis Fight Postponed Due To Aching Molar

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Madison Square Garden will be dark to boxing tonight—all because of an infected tooth.

The aching molar belongs to Bob Olin, light heavyweight champion. It gave him so much pain that he pleaded for postponement of his 10-round heavyweight match with John Henry Lewis, Phoenix, Ariz., Negro contender, scheduled for tonight. After Olin was examined by a State Athletic commission physician, an indefinite postponement was granted.

Firmer Restrictions Face Tennis Amateurs In Retort To Professionalism Trend

Association Plans Stricter Regulations To Keep Game On Sport Basis and Free of Commercialism

Top, left to right, George Lott, Jr., Lester Stoenen, William T. Tilden, II, Ellsworth Vines; below, Tilden and Lott in action.

With professionalism cutting a wide swath in the ranks of amateur tennis, amateurs are preparing a new and more vigorous drive to keep the net game on a basis of sport. Following the action of George Lott, Jr., and Lester Stoenen, 1934 amateur stars, in joining William Tilden, II, and Ellsworth Vines for a professional tour of the nation, the United States Lawn Tennis association meets in Cincinnati, Feb. 9, to consider recommendations to make the amateur rules even stricter. One proposed new rule would limit the period during which an amateur can receive living and traveling expenses for tournaments, to eight weeks a year.

(By International News Service)
CINCINNATI, Jan. 18.—Attempting to keep itself a sport played for love alone, amateur tennis is preparing a new and more vigorous attack on that lucrative bugaboo of athletics, professionalism.

Professionalism has been cutting a wide swath in the amateur tennis ranks, leaving that branch of sport short of many of its top-ranking players, its brilliancy and attractiveness—much in the same position as a motorboat in the middle of the ocean with its engine dead.

The migration to the professional class started with William T. Tilden, II, who did much to make tennis a national pastime, and now is developing the professional sport. He was followed by Ellsworth Vines and recently Lester Stoenen and George Lott, Jr., joined them for a professional tour of the nation.

All Stars
Thus has amateur tennis been robbed of its major stars. Tilden was a former amateur champion. So was Vines. By winning the doubles title, Lott and Stoenen registered the only point scored by the United States in the 1934 Davis Cup competition. Many other outstanding players have gone the same way.

Such transfers to professionalism have weakened the power of America's amateur ranks, especially in competition with net stars of other nations. Nevertheless, they have not killed the spirit of amateurism, nor weakened its aims and purposes.

On the contrary, they portend to be even stronger to combat the influence of the paid player on the youth who plays for the fun of it.

The lawn tennis amateur, as a matter of fact, will have to toe the line far more strictly in the future than heretofore if the recommendations of the amateur rule and executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association are adopted at the annual meeting of the body in Cincinnati, Feb. 9.

Define Difference
Some of these recommendations merely contain clarifications of playing provisions already enumerated in the code. Others, however, establish a more definite line of demarcation between the professional and the amateur.

From the committee's suggestions it is obvious that much of the time of the delegates at the meeting here will be taken up by questions involving these two branches of the tennis game.

Probably the most important of the proposed prohibitive measures is the one limiting the time during which an amateur may receive living and traveling expenses for competing in tournaments.

There are no restrictions now in this respect, and some amateurs have been accustomed to playing almost all year. The activities of these players will be seriously curtailed by the proposed rule, which provides that an amateur may receive his expenses only for a period of eight weeks each year.

The International federation, world governing body of tennis, passed this rule at its meeting in July, 1934. It is expected to be passed without protest at the Cincinnati meeting, for the U. S. L. T. A. as a member of the federation, must conform to the rules of the superior body.

CLASS 'B' CAGERS SEE ACTION IN MEMORIAL HALL

Fleetwings Drub Trade Class Flippers 26 to 14

Hinton's Fleetwings starting Veen with eight points completely outclassed the Trade Class basketballers on the Memorial hardwood Thursday night and in a Class "B" assignment trounced them 26 to 14. The Fleetwings put wings behind them after the opening period and flew from under a one-point advantage.

Shafer's nine-point tally for the Trade Class was good but outside of B. Miller who found the hoop for three fouls, the rest of the players were erratic. Schuster sank six for the winners.

Columbians Sink M. E.'s
The Methodists were plowed under by the flashy Columbians, 45-29 as Yeager and Fisher accounted for 14 points each. Wiggers was nearest for the losers with 12 marks. The Columbians grabbed an early lead then became a human adding machine in the second half.

In another one-sided tilt the Winona quintet dropped the Romans 32 to 17. The losers offered no worry as C. Bennett, guard, flipped seven goals and one foul for 15 points for the Winona squad.

Feminine Bowlers Strike 'em Today In Annual Tourney

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Jan. 18.—More than 450 feminine bowlers will begin knocking over pins for $2,000 in prize money in the tenth annual Ohio Women's Bowling tournament starting tonight.

The entry list is the largest in the history of the tournament and embraces an array of stars including the district, state and national champion team—the Turner Alleys of Cincinnati.

The champions from the Queen City are favored to win, but will meet strong opposition from some of the 88 other teams.

Besides facing the Cincinnati stars in the singles event, Margaret Harsch of Cleveland, who won the 1934 singles crown with 598, will face Ruth Hinkley of Sandusky, the 1933 champion.

BOSTON BRAVES SEE SOLUTION IN REVAMPING

Club Owners Meet Today To Rescue "Homeless" Ball Team

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Club owners of the National league met in extraordinary session today to rescue the Boston Braves from the financial rocks.

Just what line of procedure the league would take still was unveiled, but President Ford Frick said the special session would continue until a solution is found.

Baseball observers expressed the opinion that only through complete reorganization could club emerge from the tangle.

Such a solution, they believed, probably would mean the retirement of President Frick, as well as of Charles F. Adams, who not only is vice president of the club but holds most of the Braves' mortgages and controls the holding corporation which leases Braves field.

Possible Buyers Appear
Adams has announced publicly he does not care to add the Braves to his other interests.

Several possible buyers, it was reported, have appeared, and from them may come the answer for which the league so fervently is looking. As a last resort, the league itself may operate the club until a buyer can be found.

As the situation stands, the Braves, members continuously of the league since its organization in 1876, apparently have no place to play in 1935 because they fell some $11,000 in arrears in the payment of last year's rent on Braves field.

CHAPTER XLVII

One night Harrow had driven to the nearby village. Pete had gone to bed, Boris was in town and Spike and Ida seemed nowhere about. When, as she sat reading over the newly revised second act of their play, she was interrupted by a servant who announced "a lady to see you, Miss Owen."

Kay said, "have her come in here," and gave her hair a quick touch, wondering who would be coming at such an hour. It was nearly eleven.

There were soft, quick footsteps outside the study and a strikingly beautiful woman appeared in the doorway. She was tall, dark, with luminous big eyes and a poise and carriage that was what one might expect of the nobility.

"Miss Owen?" she asked pleasantly. Her voice was deep, vibrant, cultivated, the most beautiful feminine speaking voice Kay ever had heard.

And then, before her visitor announced the fact, Kay realized her identity. Here, in this doorway, was standing Earl Harrow's lost love, Carlotta Vestra, back from the Riviera.

"May I talk with you a few minutes—alone?" the woman asked, stepping in and closing the door behind her.

There was a little pause as Carlotta studied Kay, an unnerving, painful pause.

"I am Carlotta Vestra," the famous actress said.

Kay nodded.

"I know."

A quick fire came into the older woman's eyes; her nostrils seemed to flare and quiver.

"Ah—you do?"

It was only then that Kay realized Carlotta Vestra was angry, was inwardly trembling and seething for all her poise; and that she was unsteady on her feet, just a trifle, but unsteady, nevertheless; and that there was a distinct odor of alcohol in the room.

Eleven o'clock. In the city, night-life was just getting a good start. White lights of signs flooded the theatrical district with a strange, unearthly illumination; doormen were busy at their posts, ushering people in, ushering them out; taxi starters tooted and shrieked their various whistles; cab drivers rushed along with fashionably dressed passengers, cruised about with alert eyes or jockeyed their way up to crowded curbs; theaters, concert halls began to disgorge chattering, laughing crowds who for a short space of time had been living in other worlds; at a dock a great liner, bound for France was just casting off and the stay-behinds were waving, whistling and calling goodbyes to the departing travelers; in discreetly-fronted, quietly appointed gambling places dice were clicking and roulette wheels whirled as anxious eyes watched for the turn of luck; throughout the city, in taxi-dance places, in beer taverns, cafes, night clubs, hotels, roof gardens, radio stations, dance orchestras poured forth all varieties of music for all varieties of people; crooners leaned soulfully toward microphones; and high above the streets in sky-scrapers irregularly checkered with squares of pale light, scrubwomen pried mop and soapy rag in the deadly stillness that had closed in upon the offices a few hours before when the last typewriter had clacked, the last telephone bell had rung, the last buzzer had sounded.

Eleven o'clock in the city, a world apart from quiet Long Island, where Kay Owen sat with the vibrant, temperamental Carlotta Vestra.

Eleven o'clock by the little platinum watch on Ida Campbell's golden-brown wrist. Ida looked across the shiny, black top of the speakeasy table at Spike Winch's battered quizzical face. He was a likeable roughneck, this Spike Winch; a smart man; maybe not even as much a roughneck as he seemed. He was of this world—the clubs, the speakeasies, the music, the parties, the theater. He was the closest associate of Earl Harrow who held so much of this world's power.

"You know," Ida said slowly, her long-lashed eyes half closed, "you're a pretty swell guy, Ol' Man Winch."

Spike grinned with cheerful, good-humored defiance.

"Glad you think so," he said.

"Yes, I like you a lot."

"That's good. Makes it chummy."

"Doesn't it?" Like me, Spike?

He seemed to weigh the question with mocking seriousness. It was a long time before he queried "Why not?"

Ida reached over and put her hand on his.

"You defeat me," she said, with a little laugh.

He shrugged and grinned at her, telling her nothing.

"We've had a lot of fun together these last few days," she continued.

"Yeah," he admitted. "It's been all right."

Ida began to dab the end of her cigarette into the black and white ash tray, crushing the glowing tip firmly, slowly into ashed with a studious concentration. She spoke without looking up from the task.

"We could have a lot more fun," she continued.

Spike paused again. Finally he said, "I guess we could."

Ida looked up quickly, her eyes bright, a half smile on her lips.

"Why don't we?" she suggested.

"I'll bite."

"You know," she said, "I actually had the idea for a while that I had a yen for Earl."

"Lots of women have had that idea," Spike admitted.

"He's wonderful. I love him," Ida gushed. "I don't think there's another man like him anywhere. But . . . he isn't my sort, after all."

"No?" Spike asked quietly, slightly cocking a sandy eyebrow through which ran a little white diagonal scar.

"No," she said. "Spike, I don't know what the matter with me. I'm tired of the silly life I've been leading—absolutely sick and disgusted with it. And I've decided a time I did something about it. I'm young. I've lots of money—all I'll ever need, at least—and I don't propose to go on as I have been. I'm not bad-looking. Am I? Am I, Spike?"

"You've got your share of this and that," he admitted.

Ida began to fidget a little, for all her poses, her cool blond sophistication. "I'm going to Paris for a little while," she declared.

"Yeah?"

"Why don't you come with me?" Spike merely looked at her calmly, with no surprise, no change of expression.

"I've got work to do," he said.

"You wouldn't want to, then?" she suggested, staring at her (freshly) lighted cigarette, held in two slim carmine-nailed fingers.

"Don't be a dope!" he ejaculated. "It would be a lot of fun."

"I think I would. You may think I'm pretty terrible, but I'm going to ask you something. Never mind about the job. Earl will give you a little holiday. I want you to marry me, Spike, and come to Paris with me. We'll be back in a few weeks and your work can go right on. I'm not asking anything of you except that. And if you don't like me, or if we shouldn't manage to get along—no regrets—wipe it clean."

Spike considered the proposition a long time, while Ida dabbed nervously at the ash tray with the second cigarette.

He began to speak slowly, pleasantly enough, but with a seriousness she was not used to in him.

"Let me thank you, first of all. It sounds mighty good. I'll admit. And then let me be on the up-and-up with you. You tried to hook Earl. Now wait! You can talk in your turn and I'm not just sitting here to rib you. Let me finish. We've all had our angles in this business. You tried to hook Earl. Earl was on the make for Kay. Kay was after a career. Pete Ryan was sighing around her enough to break your heart. All right—I made a couple of passes at Kay myself. Where did I get? Nowhere. Kay's straight, and she knows what she wants. Maybe she doesn't think she does, but I do. She wants marriage. He had given you up. You know that."

and love—the McCoy pash, nothing else. Then Earl slips and starts hanging on the ropes. He's gone on her. And he goes off the deep end and wants to marry her. Meanwhile old Boris is giving her a healthy tumble. You see it up about like I do. You see as far as you're concerned with Earl, no dice. But you think you'd like to life—you got a few stage-struck notions yourself. All right. Who's the candidate? Me. I am, little Spike."

"But I—I do have a real yen for you—"

"Maybe so. And you don't leave me cold, sister, if it's a reference you'd like. I'm for you. You're a mighty tasty dish. I don't care about your angle. We've all got angles in anything we do. I'm just telling you I've heard wedding bells too often. They give me a headache. I'm paying two sets of all-money now. Tie that. And there was some funny business about my first divorce that my lawyer didn't let me in on in time and all I got to do is sneeze and I take a bigamy rap. And as for getting away right now, I couldn't if I wanted to. But I'm for you and hope there's no hard feelings."

Ida shook her head slowly. "No," she said thickly. "Not a one, Spike."

"Oke. Let's get out of here and get some air."

As they rose it was nearly eleven-thirty by Ida's little platinum watch.

Even-thirty on Long Island in the big, quiet house. Eleven-thirty and Kay was still closeted with Carlotta Vestra. She was frightened, but didn't know what to do. Any course she might take in handling this temperamental woman to bring her out of what appeared to be an insane rage might be the fatal one. All she could do was talk—talk—answer questions, make denials.

Carlotta began by baldly accusing her of stealing Earl Harrow.

"But I didn't. How could I? He's straight, and she knows what she wants. Maybe she doesn't think she does, but I do. She wants marriage. He had given you up. You know that."

Luther league 7 p. m. Topic, "Helping Others Out."
All are cordially welcome to these services.
Come and worship with us.

Christian Church
Sunday school 10 a. m. Russell Huffmatt, Supt.
Morning service 11 a. m. Rev. George A. Pank, pastor.
Christian Endeavor meeting, 8 p. m. Wednesday.

CAMDEN, N. J.—There's nothing like delivering a fire to the door of the firehouse.
Captain James Young, of Engine Company No. 2, raced three blocks to his firehouse when the passenger bus on which he was riding caught fire.
A few minutes later, the fire engine clanged to the street. There in front of the firehouse, was the burning bus.
